Hired Swords

recruiting hired swords

This section introduces Hired Swords – professional mercenaries – to Mordheim campaign games. Taverns in the settlements and shanty towns around Mordheim are good recruitment centres for warriors who do not belong to any particular warband or retinue, but instead hire out their services to the highest bidder.

A player can recruit Hired Swords when he creates his warband, or during the campaign phase after a game.

Hired Swords don't belong to the warband they fight with and usually don't help the warband except by fighting. This means that they do not count towards the maximum number of warriors or Heroes in the warband and don't affect your income from selling wyrdstone. A player cannot buy extra weapons or equipment for a Hired Sword, and he cannot sell the Hired Sword's weapons or equipment. To reflect their rarity, you can only have one of each type of Hired Sword in your warband. You may not use the Leadership of any of the Hired Swords for Rout tests.

hire fee

When a warband recruits a Hired Sword, you must must pay his hire fee. Subsequently, after each battle he fights, including the first, you must pay his upkeep fee if you want him to remain with the warband. If the Hired Sword is killed, or you no longer require his services, you don't have to pay any upkeep! These costs are indicated in the entries for each Hired Sword.

The money paid to Hired Swords comes from the warband's treasury in the same way as buying new weapons or recruiting new warriors. If you don't have enough gold to pay for the Hired Sword, or want to spend it on other things, he leaves the warband. Any experience he has gained will be lost, even if you hire a new Henchman of the same type.

injuries

If a Hired Sword goes out of action during the game, roll for his injuries as you would roll for a Henchman after a battle (i.e. 1-2 = Lost; 3-6 = Survives).

Hired swords and experience

Hired Swords gain experience in exactly the same way as Henchmen. Refer to the scenarios to find out how much experience Hired Swords gain after each game.

Write the name and profile of a Hired Sword on your roster sheet in one of the Henchman group slots.

Once the Hired Sword gains enough experience for an advance, roll on the Heroes Advancement table (as opposed to Henchmen) to determine which advance he gains. Skills available to the Hired Swords are listed under their entries.

Pit fighter

30 gold crowns to hire +15 gold crowns upkeep

Pit Fighters are dangerous men who make their living in the illegal fighting pits of the Empire. Many of them are slaves and prisoners but some are free men who earn their living from savage pit fights in settlements like Cutthroats' Haven or Black Pit. Even though pit fights are banned in many provinces, they are very popular and a great deal of money is wagered on the outcome. Thus many authorities turn a blind eye to these bloodsports.

When not in the pits, Pit Fighters offer their services to the highest bidders, and they readily find employment in warbands intent on exploring the ruins of Mordheim. Pit Fighters are powerful and dangerous fighters, and their unique weaponry gives them an advantage against almost any opponent.

May be Hired: Any warband apart from Undead and Skaven may hire a Pit Fighter.

Rating: A Pit Fighter increases the warband's rating by +22 points, plus 1 point for each Experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Pit Fighter	4	4	3	4	4	1	4	2	7

Equipment: Morning star, spiked gauntlet and helmet. The spiked gauntlet counts as an additional hand weapon and a buckler. And no, your Heroes cannot learn to use it!

Skills: A Pit Fighter may choose from Combat, Speed and Strength skills when he gains a new skill.

Ogre bodyguard

80 gold crowns to hire +30 gold crowns upkeep

Ogres are large, brutish creatures, standing some ten feet tall, and all of it bone and muscle. For this reason they are much in demand as bodyguards and mercenaries, despite their lack of brains. A warband backed up by an Ogre makes a fearsome enemy, since Ogres are extremely dangerous fighters and a terrifying sight to behold when enraged. They happily accept any employer, as they are notoriously unbothered about who they fight for.

May be Hired: Any warband except Skaven may hire an Ogre Bodyguard.

Rating: An Ogre Bodyguard increases the warband's rating by +25 points, plus 1 point for each Experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Ogre	6	3	2	4	4	3	3	2	7

Weapons/Armour: Either two swords, axes or clubs (or any mix of them), or a double-handed weapon (you may choose which). Ogres wear light armour.

SPECIAL RULES

Fear: Ogres are large, threatening creatures that cause fear. See the Psychology section for details.

Large: Ogres are huge, lumbering creatures and therefore make tempting targets for archers. Any model may shoot at an Ogre, even if it is not the closest target.

Skills: An Ogre may choose from Combat and Strength skills when he gains new skills.

Halfling scout

15 gold crowns to hire +5 gold crowns upkeep

Halflings are diminutive creatures, generally more concerned with the timing of their next meal (or two) than with military pursuits. They range from three to four feet tall, and are neither very strong nor tough, but are naturally good shots and steadfast in the face of danger. Some Halflings are more adventurous than others, however, and these bold spirits are much sought after by mercenary bands, for they are splendid archers, and excellent cooks to boot.

May be Hired: Any warband except Skaven, Undead and the Possessed may hire a Halfling Scout.

Rating: A Halfling Scout increases the warband's rating by +5 points plus 1 point for each Experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Halfling	4	2	4	2	2	1	4	1	8

Equipment: Bow, dagger and a cooking pot (counts as a helmet).

SPECIAL RULES:

Cook: Halflings are renowned for their cooking skills. A warband with a Halfling Scout may increase its maximum size by +1, as warriors from all around are attracted by the smell of great food! Note that this does not increase the maximum number of Heroes you may have.

Skills: A Halfling may choose from Speed and Shooting skills when he gains a new skill.

Warlock

30 gold crowns to hire +15 gold crowns upkeep

Wizards, shamans, mystics, all these and more are associated with men who can wield the power of magic. All magic is potentially dangerous and originates from Chaos, so those blessed (or cursed) with the power of sorcery are hated and feared.

Still, it is not difficult to find employment if you are a wizard, for many are willing to take the risk of persecution. But hiring a Warlock does not only mean that you lose your gold – if the teachings of the Cult of Sigmar are to be believed, your soul is at risk as well...

May be Hired: Any warband except Witch Hunters and Sisters of Sigmar may hire a Warlock.

Rating: A Warlock increases the warband's rating by +16 points plus 1 point for each Experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Warlock	4	2	2	3	3	1	4	1	8

Equipment: A Warlock carries a staff.

SPECIAL RULES:

Wizard: Warlocks are magicians and have two spells generated at random from the Lesser Magic list. See the Magic section for details.

Skills: Warlocks may choose skills from the Academic skills list, or they may randomly determine a new spell from the Lesser Magic spell list.

Freelancer

50 gold crowns to hire +20 gold crowns upkeep

Just as warriors of the lower social orders can become mercenaries, squires or nobles may offer their skills for hire by becoming a Freelancer or 'robber knight'. Freelancers are often the younger sons of nobles, who have inherited little but their weapons, horse and armour. Having become disillusioned with their lot in life they have taken the only road available to them: that of a Hired Sword.

Financial considerations take precedence over the dictates of honour and chivalry. Many Freelancers have drifted to the shanty towns surrounding Mordheim, and offer their considerable strength to the highest bidders.

May be Hired: Mercenaries and Witch Hunters may hire Freelancers.

Rating: A Freelancer increases the warband's rating by +21 points plus 1 point for each Experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Freelancer	4	4	3	4	3	1	4	1	7
Warhorse	8	3	0	3	3	1	3	1	5

Equipment: Heavy armour, shield, lance and sword. If you are using the optional rules for mounted models, a Freelancer rides a warhorse. When mounted, the Freelancer has an armour saving throw of 3+. On foot his save is 4+.

Skills: A Freelancer may choose from Combat and Strength skills when he gains a new skill.

Elf ranger

40 gold crowns to hire +20 gold crowns upkeep

Elves are a wondrous race: lithe, tall, beautiful, long-lived and magical. For the most part they are feared and distrusted by humans, though some live in the cities amongst men and offer their services as minstrels and archers in return for a high fee.

Though Elves become rarer in the Old World each year, there are still some roaming on the trackless paths of the Drakwald Forest and the Forest of Shadows.

Elves sensibly tend to avoid the ruins of Mordheim, for in the City of the Damned there is little to attract that fey and strange race, but sometimes they are hired by treasure hunters, for few can match their skill with a bow, or their inhuman quickness and agility. The senses of an Elf are much keener than any human's, and they make excellent scouts.

May be Hired: Mercenaries and Witch Hunters may hire Elf Rangers. Warbands which include Dwarfs may hire Elf Rangers, but must pay 40 gold crowns after each battle instead of 20.

Rating: An Elf Ranger increases the warband's rating by 12 points plus 1 point for each Experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Elf Ranger	5	4	5	3	3	1	6	1	8

Equipment: Elf bow, sword and Elven cloak.

Skills: An Elf Ranger may choose from Shooting and Speed skills when he gains a new skill. In addition, there are several skills unique to Elf Rangers as detailed below, which he can choose instead of normal skills. Note that these special skills can only be acquired through experience. They are not possessed by a new recruit.

SPECIAL RULES

Seeker. When rolling on the Exploration chart, the Elf Ranger allows you to modify one dice roll by -1/+1.

Excellent Sight. Elves have eyesight unmatched by mere humans. The Elf Ranger spots Hidden enemies from two times as far away as other warriors (ie, twice his Initiative value in inches).

EIVEN SKILLS

Fey. Hostile magic spells will not affect the Elf on a D6 roll of 4+.

Luck. The Elf Ranger is blessed by Lileath, the Elven goddess of luck. Once per game he may re-roll any dice roll he makes (but not one made by other members of the warband).

Dwarf troll slayer

25 gold crowns to hire + 10 gold crowns upkeep

Troll Slayers are members of the morbid Dwarf cult whose followers are obsessed with seeking an honourable death in combat. Having committed some unforgivable crime or been dishonoured in an irredeemable way, a Dwarf will forsake his home and wander off to die fighting the enemies of Dwarfkind.

Troll Slayers are insanely dangerous individuals, psychopathic and violent. However, there are few better fighters, so they are much sought after when warriors are needed.

Known as 'Hired Axes', Troll Slayers who come to Mordheim find plenty of opportunity to indulge their deathwish.

May be Hired: Mercenaries and Witch Hunters may hire a Dwarf Troll Slayer. Warbands that include Elves may hire Slayers, but must pay 20 gold crowns after each battle instead of 10 gold crowns. Dwarfs won't put up with weak pointy-eared folk unless they have to, or are adequately compensated for their sufrage.

Rating: A Dwarf Troll Slayer increases the warband's rating by 12 points plus 1 point for each Experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Troll Slayer	3	4	3	3	4	1	2	1	9

Weapons/Armour: Two axes or a double-handed axe (the hiring player may choose).

Skills: A Troll Slayer may choose from Combat and Strength skills when he gains a new skill. In addition, there are several skills unique to Dwarf Troll Slayers which he can have instead of normal skills when he gains a new skill.

SPECIAL RULES

Deathwish. Troll Slayers seek an honourable death in combat. They are completely immune to all psychology and will never need to test if they are fighting alone.

Hard to Kill. Troll Slayers are tough, resilient individuals who can only be taken out of action on a D6 roll of 6 instead of 5-6 when rolling on the Injury chart. Treat a roll of 5 as stunned.

Hard Head. Troll Slayers ignore the special rules for maces, clubs etc. They are not very easy individuals to knock out!

TROLL SLAYER SKILLS

Ferocious Charge. The Dwarf may double his attacks on the turn in which he charges. He will suffer a -1 to hit penalty on that turn.

Monster Slayer. The Troll Slayer always wounds any opponent on a D6 roll of 4+, regardless of Toughness, unless his own Strength (with weapon modifiers) would mean that a lower result than this is needed.

Berserker. The Dwarf may add +1 to his to hit rolls during the turn in which he charges.

Bard

20 gold crowns to hire + 10 gold crowns upkeep

In the dark and depressing streets of Mordheim a rousing tune foretelling the warband's victory can lift even the lowliest of spirits. A Bard may seem out of place in the City of the Damned but there are those who are willing to sing out their battle chorus for the highest bidder. These men are often warriors too, for only the bravest of songsters would consider looking for an audience in Mordheim.

May be Hired: Mercenaries, Sisters of Sigmar and Witch Hunters may hire Bards.

Rating: A Bard increases a warband's rating by 8 points plus 1 point for each Experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Bard	4	3	3	3	3	1	3	1	7

Weapons/Armour: Sword, dagger and light armour.

SPECIAL RULES

Songster: A Bard's rousing war songs steel the hearts of all those around him. Any friendly model within 6" of a Bard may re-roll any failed Leadership test with a +1 to Leadership. This includes rout tests.

Skills: A Bard may choose from Academic and Speed skills when he gains a new skill.

Bounty Hunter

Bounty Hunter

40 gold crowns + 15 gold crowns upkeep

Villains and outlaws are rife in the Old World. In Mordheim they are as ubiquitous as the ruins that litter the streets. It is the false perception of some outlaws that the depravity and chaos within the city's walls can offer some anonymity from those men who would seek to bring them to justice and claim the price on their heads. Not so, for Bounty Hunters are determined and resourceful men who will often hire themselves out as mercenaries to roaming warbands in the hope of getting closer to their mark. Their mission is to capture at all costs and a little thing like a cursed city isn't even going to slow their stride...

May be Hired: Any warband except Possessed, Undead, Skaven and Orcs may hire the Bounty Hunter.

Rating: A Bounty Hunter increases the warband's rating by +20 points, plus 1 point for each experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Bounty Hunter	4	4	3	4	3	1	4	1	8

Weapons/Armour: Sword, dagger, pistol, crossbow, heavy armour, helmet, rope hook and lantern.

SPECIAL RULES

Capture: The Bounty Hunter will always be on the lookout for the outlaw he is pursuing. Such contracts are numerous, especially in Mordheim so at the start of each battle nominate one of your opponent's heroes as the Bounty Hunter's mark. The Bounty Hunter gets a +1 to hit this model and must always move towards them (if he can see them), unless he can shoot (in which case choose). If the Bounty Hunter successfully takes the hero 'out of action' he gains the hero's gold value as payment (of which he gives the warband half) +D3 experience if he survives the game and the Bounty Hunter's side wins. After the battle do not roll on the serious injury table for the hero, he simply counts as captured.

Skills: A Bounty Hunter may choose from Combat, Shooting, Strength and Speed skills when he gains a new skill.

Beast Hunter

The Beast Hunter is a dark wanderer, full of mystery and self-loathing. His is a woeful tale. Kith and kin slaughtered by the foul Beastmen of the wild. He is one of many such men who have been driven to the very edge by their experiences, yearning only now for unquenchable revenge against those that destroyed their once normal lives. They bedeck themselves in the skins of their foes and take on a truly frightening aspect. It is a stout captain indeed who hires such 'wild men' of the forest but their hunter's skills are without equal and their raw strength in combat is too awesome to ignore. Dangerous and ferocious, ideal qualities for survival in the dark, unbridled wilds...

Hire Fee: 35 Gold Crowns to hire + 15 Gold Crowns upkeep.

May be Hired: Any warband other than Skaven, Beastmen, Undead, Orcs & Goblins, Possessed and Carnival of Chaos may hire a Beast Hunter.

Rating: A Beast Hunter increases the warband's rating by +18 points, plus 1 point for each Experience Point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Beast Hunter	4	3	4	3	3	1	4	2	7

Equipment: Two axes, throwing axe (counts as a throwing knife with +1 Strength), light armour.

SPECIAL RULES

Beastmen Vengeance: The Beast Hunter hates all Beastmen (this includes Gors, Ungors, Centigors and Minotaurs) and will fight for no upkeep cost in battles against Beastmen.

Skull Rack: The Beast Hunter wears a grisly skull rack bedecked with bestial skulls. He causes fear in all Beastmen.

Predator: The Beast Hunter is a predator of all fell creatures but most especially Beastmen. In any battle that is set in the wilderness (ie. not within Mordheim) that involves Beastmen, the Beast Hunter may be set up after both warbands have deployed. He may be set up anywhere on the board that is hidden and outside of the enemy deployment zone.

Skills: A Beast Hunter may choose from Combat and Strength skills when he gains a new skill.

Roadwarden

Patrolling the fraught and dangerous highways of the Empire, Roadwardens are dour men of the sternest courage. Solitary figures, they range far and wide, often with little food and in all weathers. They are hardened and brutal fighters, uncompromising and without any martial code, they give no quarter as they expect none to be given in return. Their skill lies with the crossbow, with which they are excellent hunters and deadly marksmen. Highwaymen, deviants and bandits are their common quarry, safety of the roadways their charge and they execute both with deliberate and unswerving severity.

Hire Fee: 40 Gold Crowns to hire + 20 Gold Crowns upkeep.

May be Hired: Any good-aligned warband may hire a Roadwarden such as Witch Hunters, Sisters of Sigmar, Dwarfs and Human Mercenaries. A Roadwarden will never join a warband that also contains a Highwayman.

Rating: A Roadwarden increases the warband's rating by +22 points, plus 1 point for each experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Roadwarden	4	3	4	3	3	1	3	1	8
Horse	8	0	0	3	3	1	3	0	5

Weapons/Armour: Crossbow, horseman's hammer (p.14 Town Cryer 24), dagger, heavy armour and three torches (p.14 Town Cryer 24). If you are using the optional rules for mounted models then the Roadwarden also rides a horse. The Roadwarden's save is 4+ whilst mounted and 5+ whilst on foot.

Skills: A Roadwarden may choose from Combat, Strength and Shooting skills when he gains a new skill.

SPECIAL RULES

Lethal Marksman: A master with the crossbow, a Roadwarden combines the skills of Trick Shooter and Eagle Eyes.

Stern: Working alone and in the dark for the majority of his profession the Roadwarden is made of strong stuff indeed. He may re-roll any failed Leadership test for panic, fear, and is immune to the rules for being All Alone.

Expert Rider: A highly skilled horseman, a Roadwarden counts as having the Nimble skill whilst on horseback and suffers no modifiers for moving and shooting.

STAGECOACHES

Both Highwaymen and Roadwardens are particularly suited to battles involving stagecoaches, wagons, etc. To represent this, in any scenario in which one or both sides have a stagecoach or a wagon, any Highwayman or Roadwarden in either warband may re-roll a single dice roll once per turn. This special bonus lasts until the re-rolled dice comes up as a 1 as it is designed to represent their ability to predict and perform at their peak in familiar and well-practiced territory.

Highwayman

Roaming the woods and secluded byways of the Empire, highwaymen prey on the many coaches and wagons foolish or desperate enough to travel there. These are dark and dangerous men, often employed for their knowledge of cargo charters and skill at ambush. Oft they appear to the naked eye, bereft of their blackened garb, as foppish, charming characters, but that ruse is a genteel masquerade as their cruelty and viciousness will testify. Deadly pistoliers and expert riders, they are an asset to any warband but watch your back, for they are untrustworthy, self-serving men.

Hire Fee: 35 Gold Crowns to hire + 20 Gold Crowns upkeep.

May be Hired: Any warband, except Sisters of Sigmar, Witch Hunters and any good-aligned Elves may hire a Highwayman. A Highwayman will never join a warband that also contains a Roadwarden.

Rating: A Highwayman increases the warband's rating by +20 points, plus 1 point for each Experience Point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Highwayman	4	3	4	3	3	1	3	1	7
Horse	8	0	0	3	3	1	3	0	5

Weapons/Armour: Brace of pistols, rapier (p.84 Mordheim Annual), cloak (acts as a buckler in close combat) and dagger.

If you are using the optional rules for mounted models then the Highwayman also rides a horse. When the Highwayman is mounted, he has a save of 6+, on foot he has no Armour save.

Skills: A Highwayman may choose from Combat, Shooting and Speed skills when he gains a new skill.

SPECIAL RULES

Expert Pistolier: A Highwayman's skill with a brace of pistols is unrivalled and as such he combines the effects of the skills Pistolier and Trick Shooter.

Unscrupulous: A Highwayman, despite all his skill and bravado, is not to be trusted. At the end of each battle roll a D6, on a roll of a 1 the warband receives 1 less piece of Treasure than they would normally as the Highwayman has stolen it for himself (this Treasure is not spent on the Highwayman, it is lost!). Obviously, if this keeps happening it will be up to warband leader to keep the Highwayman in his employ or not...

Expert Rider: A Highwayman is a superb rider and as such while he is mounted he counts as being stationary for the purposes of shooting (ie. no -1 modifier to hit) and he also benefits from the skill as he can reload quickly whilst on horseback.

Show me the Money

The taverns in the settlements around Mordheim make good recruitment centres for warriors to sell their services to the highest bidder. Here, Mark Havener describes two more Hired Swords that can be recruited by your warband.

Imperial Assassin

40 gold crowns to hire + 20 gold crowns upkeep

Politics is a dangerous game and not all dangers are found on the battlefield. The Assassin specializes in removing 'obstacles' with discretion. He will hire himself out to the highest bidder and satisfaction is guaranteed. The Assassin calmly dispatches his rather distasteful duties with fastidiousness and finesse. In between jobs, such a man will often join a wandering warband in order to hone his skills; assassination is not a profession for the slow or dull-witted!

May Be Hired: Any warband except Witch Hunters, Sisters of Sigmar, Orcs & Goblins or Skaven may hire the Assassin.

Rating: An Imperial Assassin increases the warband's rating by +22 points, plus 1 point for each Experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Assassin	4	4	4	3	3	1	5	2	8

Weapons/Armour: Sword, dagger, throwing daggers and a crossbow pistol.

SPECIAL RULES

Weapons Master: The Assassin is a master of weapons and may use any weapon he finds. You may purchase weapons for the Assassin just as you would for any other member of your warband. However, unlike other members of your warband, any weapon you give an Assassin is his to keep – he will not give it to another warband member later. In addition, although he knows how to use them, an Assassin will never use a blackpowder weapon as such devices are far too conspicuous in their use for someone in his profession.

Poisoner: Assassins specialize in the use of poisons. The Assassin starts each game with his weapons poisoned with either Black Lotus or Dark Venom. The controlling player decides which poison the Assassin is armed with before the game starts, and this poison does not need to be traded for. And no, the Assassin cannot poison other warband members' weapons, nor will he loan his out!

Skills: An Assassin may choose from Combat, Speed, Shooting skills or Unstoppable Charge from the Strength skills list when he gains a new skill. He may also choose from the special Assassin skills below.

ASSASSIN SKILLS

Backstabber: The Assassin specializes in attacking his targets when their back is turned. The Assassin may charge an opponent he cannot see (he knows you're there!) as long as the target model is within his charge reach. If he does this, he surprises his opponent and receives a +1 to hit him with all attacks and any rolls on the Serious Injuries chart are at +1. This bonus lasts for the first round of combat only, as his opponent will swiftly recover his wits if he survives the initial assault.

Hide in Shadows: The Assassin can blend into the shadows so that his opponents will not see him. As long as he is within 1" of a wall or other linear obstacle (hedge, fence, well, etc), opposing models must pass an Initiative test in order to charge or shoot at him.

An Imperial Assassin blades in the shadows ready to attack his next victim. We've used one of the Duellists from Vespero's Vendetta to represent the Assassin, but you can choose whichever model you like best!

Tilean Marksman

30 gold crowns to hire + 15 gold crowns upkeep

The Empire is not the only place that breeds mercenaries. The constant warring among the city-states of Tilea provides many opportunities for a man who knows how to use a weapon. Still, sometimes the fighting dies down in Tilea and many of these mercenaries are forced to seek employment in other lands. Many of these temporarily unemployed mercenaries have heard of the trouble brewing in Mordheim and have come seeking a new patron.

May Be Hired: Any warband except Skaven, Orcs or Undead may hire the Tilean Marksman.

Rating: A Tilean Marksman increases the warband's rating by +16 points, plus 1 point for each Experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Marksman	4	3	4	3	3	1	3	1	7

Weapons/Armour: Light armour, sword, dagger and crossbow.

SPECIAL RULES

Steady Hands: The Tilean Marksman's aim never wavers. He ignores 'to hit' modifiers for long range when shooting his crossbow.

Dead Eye Shot: The Marksman has the eyes of an eagle and can hit the smallest target. He ignores 'to hit' modifiers for cover when shooting his crossbow.

Skills: A Tilean Marksman may choose from Shooting skills when he gains a new skill.

A Tilean Marksman leads the Marienburger Archers in an ambush on a Skaven warband. We refused Maximilian Damarik from the Marksmen of Miragliano to represent the Marksman.

"And I say we were here first; you'd better leave!"

The argument had been going for a solid fifteen minutes, with neither party budging from their position. Reinhold stooped to press his face close to his scarlet-faced adversary, the leader of the Dwarf warband. Dwarfs were infamous for their stubbornness, and this individual seemed to be out to prove that his reputation was well founded. Both warband leaders had warriors scattered throughout the ruins of the big hall. Crossbows were nocked and aimed on both sides, and the stress was showing on several of the human faces. The Dwarfs seemed strangely calm.

Suddenly the door burst open, slamming one of the members of Reinhold's band into the wall. Through the doorway, barely able to enter the room because of his incredible bulk, strode an Ogre mercenary. The creature stopped as soon as it was fully in the room. It was indeed a frightening sight, and the man to the Ogre's left scarcely reacted when the monster grabbed the crossbow from his hands and crushed it in a huge fist.

"Ah, there you are Ronch!" cried the Dwarf warband leader, a smile springing into his normally dour features, "I was wondering when you'd get here. These gentlemen want to force us to leave. Convince them that we should stay."

"RONCH SMASH!" bellowed the Ogre. He threw the remnants of the crossbow across the room and brought up his enormous sword preparing to cut the ex-crossbowman in two. His poor victim was frozen in shock, and could do nothing to stop his fate.

Fortunately for him, he didn't need to, for in the next instant the Ogre froze, a look of shock and horror fixed to his face. The creature's mouth moved slowly, but no sound escaped. Then the hulking brute toppled forward and fell face down into the dust that covered the floor. Out of his back protruded a dagger.

Standing in the doorway was a man, somewhat smaller than average in height, with nondescript looks and the barest hint of a smile on his face. He would have looked like any nobleman's foppish son, if it were not for the utilitarian look to his night-black clothing and the utter lack of emotion in his eyes.

"Miss me?" asked Dirk, the assassin that Reinhold had hired. The warband leader just smiled. It looked like they would get to stay after all...

Fortune Hunters

By Nick Kyme

'Wherever there is gold to be won you will find them. Whenever there is a fight in the offing they will be lurking around the next corner. These are dangerous men, all too willing to lend the weight of their blade to whoever will offer the heaviest purse. They roam the taverns and live in the shadows around the outskirts of this dark city. They have many forms and their loyalty is only bought by coin. Professional? Usually. Lucky? Probably. Deranged? Definitely... but then who wouldn't be in this cursed place?'

- One-eyed Brakk the trader on the subject of Hired Swords

Hired Swords are a useful addition to any warband. They can often bring many strengths that a warband would otherwise lack. Haughty Elven Rangers and plucky Halfling Scouts can provide welcome missile expertise whereas hulking Pit Fighters and desperate Trollslayers boast hefty muscle. Whatever situation there is usually a Hired Sword to remedy it. These mercenaries are numerous around Mordheim and there are rumours that some new sell swords have moved into the City of the Damned to ply their trade...

Duelist

35 gold crowns to hire + 15 gold crowns upkeep

Duelists are men of the shadows, their reputations dark and bloodthirsty. They are men of iron nerve who stare unflinchingly into the face of death every time they draw their pistols. As well as expert pistoliers, duelists are master swordsmen, their close quarter fighting deadly and brief for their opponents. Those who seek the services of a duelist must frequent dark avenues and taverns to locate them, for they are enigmatic and elusive figures. However any warband who secures their skills will reap great benefit.

May be Hired: Any warband except Skaven and Undead may hire a Duelist.

Rating: A Duelist increases the warband's rating by +18 points, plus 1 point for each experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Duelist	4	4	3	3	3	1	4	2	7

Weapons/Armour: Duelling pistol, sword, dagger and cloak. The cloak counts as a buckler.

SPECIAL RULES

Darting Steel: A Duelist is like a blur in hand-to-hand combat, turning blades aside with seemingly little effort or concern. The Duelist may parry using his sword and buckler if he can roll under his weapon skill and not more than his opponent's highest hit roll as per the normal rules.

Skills: A Duelist may choose from Combat and Shooting skills when he gains a new skill.

"Many Bargains, Much Cheapness!"

"Fifty crowns you say?" Malik looked up from his inspection dubiously. In the thick shadows of the room, his 'business partners' were half-lit silhouettes.

"You know my price merchant," came a sibilant response.

The shadow figure lurched forward in his chair. He was sat some distance from the table upon which a number of swords, axes and other weapons rested.

"Estalian steel," he pressed. "Fine quality." The last part was a hiss, the wan light of the lantern catching the shining saliva on a forked tongue, etching a black outline of a grotesque face, misshapen and bulbous.

Malik assumed Khalzak the Mutant always dealt in the shadows, his deformities doubtlessly attracting unwanted attention from the Cabal.

"I am unsure of the quality," Malik dared, acutely aware of the shifting forms of figures in the oily background.

"I thought this was to be a one-on-one meeting," he stated calmly.

Khalzak lurched directly into the light. He was disgusting. Two small horns protruded from his left cheek, his forked tongue writhing in the cavity of his mouth like a tentacle. He was hunchbacked, stooping protectively over the blades and his right arm was impossibly small, wasted and withered like a pox-ridden child's.

Malik shifted back slightly from the horror, careful to mask his intent.

Grim-faced thugs emerged into the corona cast by the lantern, faces daubed with the sigils of the ruinous powers.

"I lied," Khalzak admitted, his tone

Merchant Hired Swords in Mordheim
By Nicodemus Kyme

edged with malicious finality.

Khalzak was scant inches from Malik; his breath held the stink of rotten meat.

Malik now leaned forward, a glint in his eye.

"So did I," he whispered.

There was the sound of leather on metal and a flash of silver. Scants seconds later the room exploded into violence.

Malik, crouched beneath the table, listening to the sound of crashing steel above him. He had contrived the hiding place as soon as the battle began. He was a businessman not a warrior and had no wish to be spitted on Khalzak's blade.

The mutant had other ideas.

Panic filled his stomach as Malik's wooden barrier was torn away, splinters falling like rain as Khalzak smashed it aside, the payload crashing on stone with metallic resonance.

"You'll pay for this!" he swore, bringing his blade down in a death arc.

Malik, instincts fuelling reaction, rolled aside and found an Estalian blade within his grasp.

Khalzak's rage had unbalanced him. He was vulnerable.

Unthinking, Malik plunged the sword deep into Khalzak's belly. The mutant slid off the blade, blood pumping freely through the wound.

Around Malik the battle was all but over, his comrades victorious.

"Good steel," he complimented a stupefied Khalzak. "And it is you who has paid," he said grimly, "a bitter price that you cannot afford!"

Arabian Merchant

20 gold crowns to hire
+ 10 gold crowns upkeep

From the lands of eternal desert they come, crossing the sea to reach the Empire, in search of the city spoken of in frightened whispers and imagined in childhood nightmares; Mordheim – City of the Damned.

Not all hirelings are warriors and the merchants of Araby are not known for their martial prowess. Rather they are advisers, treasure seekers and collectors of the arcane. Found within the shady bazaars of seldom trodden streets and darkened taverns, they have an uncanny knack of finding the best equipment for the best price, tapping into the vein-like underworld network of black markets and foreign traders providing for any would-be adventurers.

Experts in treasure and antiques, they seek their own fortune in the forgotten artefacts buried deep beneath the city but require a warband's protection. Reciprocal then is this relationship. Although keen to avoid conflict, their employers' keep them close at hand, as a smooth talking merchant is not to be trusted when treasure and glory is at stake...

May be Hired: Any good aligned warbands may hire an Arabian Merchant (ie, Mercenaries, Dwarfs, Witch Hunters, Tomb Raiders, etc)

Rating: An Arabian Merchant increases the warband's rating by +10 points, plus 1 point for each Experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Merchant	4	2	2	3	3	1	4	1	7

Equipment: Scimitar (counts as a sword).

Skills: A Merchant may choose from Academic skills when he gains a new skill (he also has his own special skills that he can choose – see below).

SPECIAL RULES

Haggle: As in the Academic skill in the rulebook.

Pawnbroker: The Merchant is skilled in finding the best price for sold items and as such gains an extra 2D6 gold per item that the warband sells (up to its full value) if he was not taken out of action in the battle.

Marketeer: The Merchant has many useful contacts in the black market underworld and foreign traders to locate many special items. After each battle (if he wasn't taken out of action) the Merchant can visit one of three markets: the Black Market, Foreign Wares and the Fencer, in search of items for the warband. Roll a D6 on the relevant table to see what items are on offer.

Black Market

A den of thieves and underworld brigands the black markets of Mordheim sell and procure all manner of illicit substances and are regularly frequented by the infamous members of the Assassins guild...

D6 Items

- | D6 | Items |
|----|--|
| 1 | Nothing available. |
| 2 | Dark Venom or Black Lotus (D3 doses) |
| 3 | Crimson Shade (D3 doses) |
| 4 | Mandrake Root or Madcap Mushrooms (D3 doses) |
| 5 | Stiletto Blade
(need 'Weapons Training' to use)
+1 attack per turn at -1 strength. |
| 6 | Blow Pipe
(need 'Weapons Training' to use) |

Foreign Wares

Traders from across the seas can be found in the shady taverns and street corners on the outskirts of Mordheim. They have many exotic and wondrous items for sale, but at a hefty price...

D6 Items

- 1 Nothing available.
- 2 Venom Ring (see TC 18)
- 3 Lamp of the Djinn or Monkey's Paw (see TC 17)
- 4 Magic Carpet or Tufenk (see TC 17)
- 5 Elven Cloak
- 6 Cathayan Silks

Fencer

Fencers have an eclectic range of items 'procured' from sources best left unspoken. Offered at incredible prices, traders should be wary for their word is not their bond and such items are often 'flawed'...

D6 Items

- 1 Halfling Cook Book
- 2 Ithilmar Weapon
- 3 Gromril Weapon
- 4 Tome of Magic
- 5 Hunting Rifle or Elven Bow
- 6 Brace of Duelling Pistols

All the items purchased through the Merchant's market contacts are at their base price (ie, do not add the random gold modifier for items). All items bought from the Fencer are also at half price but after the item is used once roll a D6. On a roll of 1, the item breaks and is useless – an elaborate fake!

Merchant Skills

Stone Cutter: The Merchant has the skill to refine wyrdstone shards to increase their value. Whenever a warband sells its wyrdstone the Merchant may try to refine the source. Roll a D6 to discover how much additional gold the wyrdstone is worth.

D6 Gold

- 1-2 Lose 2D6 gold crowns.
- 3-5 Gain 2D6 gold crowns.
- 6 Gain 3D6 gold crowns.

"Many Bargains, Much Cheapness!"

Guardian: The Merchant has 'acquired' a bodyguard to protect from harm in the coming battles. The bodyguard will only protect the Merchant and cannot fulfil warband objectives or search, loot or any function other than protecting the Merchant and as such will remain within 1" of the Merchant at all times. The bodyguard doesn't gain experience and isn't paid (it is assumed he has been 'gifted' to the Merchant as a favour from one of his contacts).

Equipment: Sword, light armour, shield and helmet.

SPECIAL RULE

Intercept: the bodyguard will intercept any model shooting at or charging the Merchant. Any attacks will be directed at him and if charged place the bodyguard in front of the Merchant to protect him. The bodyguard will not charge unless the Merchant also charges and cannot intercept an attack if already engaged in combat.

SHADOW WARRIOR

35 gold crowns to hire + 15 gold crowns upkeep

Shadow Warriors are High Elves from the desolate war-ravaged land of Nagarythe, where the Witch King once held court. This leads their kin to mistrust and ostracise them. These angry lost souls are often used as scouts and skirmishers for High Elf forces, as well as wandering sell-swords looking to quench their bitter hatred of the Dark Elves. Though not as skilled a scout as the Ranger, the Shadow Warrior is as deadly with his bow and sword as any Elf.

May be Hired: The Shadow Warrior may be hired by High Elf and all Human warbands, but may not be hired by a warband that is evil (eg Possessed) or one that includes an evil Hired Sword (eg Dark Elf Assassin).

Rating: A Shadow Warrior increases the warband's rating by +12 points plus 1 point per Experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
	5	4	4	3	3	1	6	1	8

Equipment: A Shadow Warrior carries a sword, longbow, dagger, shield and wears Light Armour.

Skills: A Shadow Warrior may choose from Combat or Shooting skills when he gains a new skill. In addition he may choose his skill from the Shadow Warriors Special Skill list in Town Cryer 10.

SPECIAL RULES

Hates Dark Elves: Shadow Warriors seethe with bitterness when facing Dark Elves and follow the rules for Hatred in the Mordheim rulebook.

Excellent Sight: Elves have eyesight unmatched by mere humans. The Shadow Warrior spots Hidden enemies from twice his Initiative value in inches away.

Bitter Enemies: If the last fight was against Dark Elves or a warband containing a Dark Elf Hired Sword, the upkeep cost is waived for that game.

Infiltration: A Shadow Warrior can infiltrate. See the Skaven skill of the same name.

BIG GAME HUNTER

40 gold crowns to hire + 18 gold crowns upkeep

There are many reasons why adventurers risk life and limb exploring the mysterious continent of Lustria. The lure of riches and arcane knowledge brings a steady flow of greedy individuals but some are drawn in search of legendary creatures rumoured to inhabit the lush jungle. Expert game hunters are paid vast sums of money by flamboyant Old World nobles in order to bring back these exotic creatures. These rare beasts are displayed in the private zoos and gardens of nobles or can be found hanging from the walls of their palaces. Game hunters are skilled trackers and hunters having spent most of their lives hunting game in the forests of the Old World. They are well equipped and not inexpensive to hire.

May be Hired: The Big Game Hunter can be hired by any human Warband.

Rating: A Big Game Hunter increases the warband's rating by +16 points plus 1 point per Experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
	4	3	4	3	3	1	4	1	7

Equipment: Sword, Dagger, Net, Light Armour, Hunting Rifle (same as a Hochland Long Rifle).

Skills: The Big Game Hunter can choose from Shooting or Academic skills when he gains a new skill.

SPECIAL RULES

Set Traps: The Hunter may place up to six counters to represent these traps on the board immediately after the Hunter model is placed. They must be placed at ground level with at least 6" between them. Any model (except the Hunter) that moves within 3" of a trap counter must roll a D6. On a 1-3, nothing happens. On a 4-6, the model takes a single hit automatically at the strength shown on the dice. The trap counter is then removed. A single model can only set off one trap at a time. If an animal of any sort is put Out of Action by a trap, it is automatically captured after the game to be sent to the Old World.

Halfling Thief

25gc to hire/Special Upkeep (see below)

Halflings are well known for their nimble feet and even nimbler fingers. While many follow their fathers and turn their dextrous skills to works of craft such as basket making, cobbling and cookery (in fact a lot of cookery) many also find themselves drawn towards the danger and excitement of stealing. Of course, Halflings never take anything too valuable (except by accident) as that would not be nice to the person who previously owned the item. Nonetheless, it is surprising the number of things that go 'missing' when a Halfling is about. The poor little chaps don't know they're doing it half the time, they just seem to acquire rings, boxes of matches and small pets as they go about their normal business.

In fact, Halflings have a very relaxed attitude towards property in general, and casually swap items with one another all of the time (mostly without realising they're actually swapping). Halfling birthdays are a celebration of this attitude and many gifts are freely given away by the Halfling whose birthday it is (usually, as a consequence of inviting another twelve Halflings to your house and then falling asleep after dinner).

Many Halflings find that the skills which were taught to them as part of their natural childhood and adolescence are frowned upon by people outside of the Moot. They also find themselves very popular with certain organisations, such as the Thieves Guild and the local Watch patrol.

As can be expected, the speed and agility of Halfling Thieves has been noted by many of those who seek their fortune delving into the ruins of Mordheim, Halflings make excellent bait for monster traps and are usually quick and lucky enough to escape once the monster has fallen for the trap. Their diminutive size allows them to be pushed through sewers, under badly fitting gates and into rat-infested nooks and crannies. As you might tell, a Halfling is considered by some to be the most essential piece of adventuring equipment you could get.

Despite this rough treatment, most Halfling "Treasure and Property Removal Experts" don't mind the odd trek into the ruins. With a few of big, burly trained bullies and perhaps a sneaky looking wizard to back you up, your enemies don't come calling at your door so often! Besides, where else can you find so many gifts, pretty gems, silver plates, swords of Mystical and Magical Significance. Not only all that, someone actually listens to what you're saying, even if they do decide to ignore you completely when you finished giving your advice.

Famous Halfling Thieves from the history books include: Nikkit Kwik (also known as the Burglar of Brionne), Bumblebean Lightfoot, Niftlet 'Statue Stealer' Stumbly, and the Halfling who once managed to steal the Great bell out of the Temple of Sigmar in Nuln, 'Two-feet-tall' Telworth Buttercup. The 'King of Thieves' is the renowned Ned Neddley, responsible for stealing almost anything that wasn't nailed down (and if he had a claw hammer with him, he'd steal the nails too).

Halflings excel at making themselves inconspicuous. This probably has something to do with their small stature, unassuming manner and predilection for walking around barefooted. Whatever the reason, there are still differences in individual Halfling abilities in this area. The Halfling Thief is a master at sneakiness, sticky-fingers, and feigned innocence. Adding one to your warband is always a dicey situation at best, as you're always certain that the other warriors are going to come up a few crowns light by the end of the adventure.

May be Hired: The Halfling Thief may be hired by the following warbands: Human Mercenaries, Kislevites, and any Wood Elf, or Dwarf warband.

Rating: A Halfling Thief increases the warband's rating by +14 points, plus 1 point for each Experience Point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Halfling	4	2	4	2	2	1	4	1	7

Equipment: A Halfling Thief is equipped with a sword, dagger, and throwing daggers. He carries a rope and grapple as well.

Skills: A Halfling Thief may choose from Speed and Shooting skills. He may also choose from the special Halfling Thief skills below.

New Skills

If the Halfling Thief rolls a skill as an advance, he may choose to take one of the following skills instead of his normal skill selections:

Wily Thief (Halfling Thief Only): The Thief is an expert at quickly finding the valuables on a victim before moving on. To reflect this, if the Thief takes out any members of the enemy warband during a game (and he was not taken Out of Action himself), the Halfling Thief's warband receives one additional Treasure (this does not affect the opposing warband's number of Treasures... just assume this is one they WOULD have found and leave it at that). This is, of course, in addition to the normal +1 Treasure he already adds through his 'Cutpurse' special rule.

Stealthy (Halfling Thief Only): The Halfling Thief can hide even after running, and can run while within 8" of enemy models if he starts and ends his move hidden.

Special Rules

Infiltrator: The Thief is an expert at sneaking close to the enemy without being detected. He may always be placed on the battlefield after the opposing warband(s), and can be placed anywhere on the table as long as it is out of sight of the opposing warband and more than 12" away from any enemy model. If both players have models which infiltrate in this way, roll off to see which player places his infiltrators first.

Pick Locks: A Thief knows how to open doors that others find impossible, using special tools of the trade and heavily guarded techniques, a good Thief can pretty much go anywhere he pleases. When testing to open a locked door, the Thief just needs to make an Initiative test in order to be successful.

Cutpurse: A Thief makes his profession by 'finding' things others have 'lost'. To represent this, at the end of the game when the warband rolls to find Treasures, they receive one additional Treasure as long as the Thief took part in the game (ie, he was actually in the battle), and wasn't taken Out of Action.

Using the rooftops, the sneaky little thief finds his way past the guard and into another house.

Uneasy Ally: At the end of each game (whether or not the Halfling Thief actually took part), roll a D6 and consult the chart following:

Roll	Result
1	Stop Thief! – Obviously unimpressed with his employment, the Halfling Thief has absconded with all the warband's valuables! Remove the Halfling Thief from your roster, along with all Treasures and valuables remaining in your stash from previous games. Do not add any additional Treasures for having the Thief in your warband this game.
2-5	Tax Time – The Halfling Thief seems satisfied with his time with the warband thus far, and just charges "his normal fee" of a 15gc upkeep.
6	Ignorance is Bliss – The Halfling Thief seems very satisfied with the take so far (in fact maybe TOO satisfied, as he keeps rubbing his hands together and muttering to himself...), and forgoes any upkeep charges on your warband this time. On the bright side, whatever it is he's filched you never knew you had...

Ninja Gnoblar

35 gold crowns to hire + 10 gold crowns upkeep

Gnoblars or Hill Goblins are the goblinoid smaller "cousins" of normal goblins and orcs. Their range in size is about halfway between goblins and Snotlings. Their coloration is slightly darker skin than other goblinoids. They do not, however, live in the orc-goblin-snotling societies, but instead they spend their lives as pets of ogres of the Ogre Kingdoms.

Though for the most part glad to be the slaves of Ogres, some Gnoblars eventually find their lives too hard in the east and mass together in massive armies that travel into the known world. Gnoblars have many sub-species, commonly known by their attributes, such as Wyrystone Gnoblar, Lookout Gnoblar, Luck Gnoblar, Gnoblar-Blood-Gnoblars, Boglars, Toad-Gnoblars among others.

Most people simply ignore gnoblars because they have bigger problems in their hands (the least not being the Ogres!), but this little git is not to be sneered at. Having spend some time spying the Celestial Dragon Monks of far east, this Gnoblar has some muscle to add in a fight!

May be Hired: Except the ogres, any warband that doesn't include any fear causing creatures may hire the Ninja Gnoblar. If the warband gains a model that causes fear, the Ninja Gnoblar will leave immediately - he may be skilled but he is still scared.

Rating: A Ninja Gnoblar increases the warband's rating by 8 points plus 1 point for each Experience point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Ninja Gnoblar	4	3	3	3	3	1	4	1	6

Weapons/Armour: Ninja Robe (counts as Hardened Leathers), Shurikens (Throwing stars with Stealthy special rule) and Bo (gives an additional attack, may parry and requires both hands).

Skills: A Ninja Gnoblar may choose from shooting and speed skills when he gains a new skill. In addition he can be given a unique special skill only available to him, noted below.

Special Rules:

- Stealthy: The Ninja Gnoblar can throw his shurikens while hidden without revealing his position to the enemy. The target model can take an Initiative test in order to try to spot the throwing Ninja. If the test is successful, the Gnoblar no longer counts as hidden.
- Rooftop to Rooftop: The Ninja Gnoblar is skilled in jumping over streets and gaps. He doesn't deduct the distance jumped from his movement. This means he can run 8" and still jump the 3".
- Expert Rooftop Jumper: The Ninja is even more skilled in jumping on the roofs. He may jump up to 4" and may re-roll a failed initiative test when jumping or making a diving charge.

Dwarf Treasure Hunter

By Jake Thornton

55 gold Crowns to hire
+ 30 gold crowns upkeep

Dwarfs are famed for their love of gold, ale and adventure, not necessarily in that order.

Since the disaster at Mordheim they have come to the ruins in ever-increasing numbers, some seeking riches, but many just after a good fight. They're well known as tough warriors and are very much sought after as hired muscle by other warbands, but the Treasure Hunters have other benefits too. Dwarf Treasure Hunters are specialists in finding riches that other people have tried to hide and, as such, can add considerably to a warband's purse.

May be Hired: Mercenaries and Witch Hunters may hire a Dwarf Treasure Hunter. Warbands of Dwarf Treasure Hunters are considered rivals to these individual prospectors and so may not hire them. Warbands that include Elves may hire Dwarf Treasure Hunters, but must pay double the normal upkeep after each battle. Dwarfs won't put up with pointy-eared folk unless they have to, or are adequately compensated for their sufferance.

Rating: A Dwarf Treasure Hunter increases the warband's rating by +24 points plus one point for each Experience Point he has.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
	3	5	4	3	4	1	2	1	9

Equipment: Gromril armour, helmet, mining pick, dagger, hammer, treasure maps and lantern rig (see below).

Skills: A Dwarf Treasure Hunter may choose from Combat or Strength skills when he gains a new skill.

SPECIAL RULES

Hard to Kill: Dwarfs are tough, resilient individuals who are only taken out of action on a roll of 6 instead of 5-6 when rolling on the Injury chart. Treat a roll of 1-2 as knocked down, 3-5 as stunned, and 6 as Out Of Action.

Hard Head: Dwarfs ignore the special rules for maces, clubs, etc. They are not easy to knock out.

Hates Orcs & Goblins: See the Psychology section of the rules for details on the effects of hatred.

Mining Pick: This is a two-handed weapon and uses the same rules as a double-handed axe, hammer, etc.

Lantern Rig: The lantern rig allows the Treasure Hunter to use the lantern and still keep both hands free for weapons. Otherwise it follows the normal rules for lanterns.

Treasure Maps: Over his time in the ruins, the Treasure Hunter has acquired a number of treasure maps. Call it greed if you must, professional interest if you're more polite. Some of these are obvious fakes, but there are many that seem promising. At least, on first glance. Each battle the Dwarf Treasure Hunter will choose one map and see where it leads. Roll a D6 at the end of each battle which the Dwarf Treasure Hunter survives without going Out Of Action.

1 Ambush!: The Dwarf Treasure Hunter is ambushed by D3 brigands who planted the fake map to lure the unwary to their doom. Immediately fight a close combat between the brigands and the Treasure Hunter with the brigands going first and counting as charging. The Brigands have the stats of a Human Mercenary Warrior (page 71 of the rulebook) and are armed with a club and dagger.

2 Poor Fake: It quickly becomes obvious that this is a feeble forgery and is utterly worthless. The Treasure Hunter uses it to light his pipe.

3 Looted Hoard: It was a good map, but someone beat you to it! Mind you, there's enough left to add +1 to the number of shards collected by your warband this game.

4 Cellar: When Dwarfs say "treasure", they don't always mean gold. This map leads to a forgotten cellar of a ruined pub and contains a small barrel of Bugman's finest ale – treasure indeed! This works like the one in the rules, but there's only enough to give to D6 warriors. Decide when you want them to drink it and roll to see how many it'll go round. The first warrior to drink from the barrel must be the Dwarf Treasure Hunter himself. The barrel cannot be sold, and if the Treasure Hunter is not retained he'll manage to take this with him when he goes.

5 Real Treasure Map: Roll one extra Exploration dice.

6 Jackpot!: You get one extra Exploration dice. However, do not roll this along with the rest of them. Instead, roll the Exploration dice you'd normally be entitled to first. Then choose the result of the extra dice instead of rolling it (potentially making doubles into triples, etc). Once you've done this, resolve the results of the exploration as normal.

Note that these results are not cumulative. The Treasure Hunter consults a different map each battle, and so the results only apply to that battle (or, more accurately, to the actions between that battle and the next).

From Across the Steppes...

Background and rules for Kislev Ranger Hired Swords by Nick Kyme

The body was still warm as Kessandria crouched within the dense foliage, her fingers searching the victim's neck for a pulse.

He was dead. All the while she kept her eyes on the forest, scrutinizing the arboreal gloom stretching before her and listening intently to the silence.

The bear had killed six people so far that she knew of. The memory of the slaughtered family still lingered, the walls of their tiny hovel sprayed red, five bodies torn and rent beyond recognition. This trapper made six. Never in her experience as a ranger had she heard of bears attacking a settlement; oft their prey were lone travellers or ambitious hunters. But she was far from the grassy steppes of Kislev now, deep in the grim heart of the Empire, a land besieged from within in dark and uncertain times.

"Anything?" a voice said behind her.

Kessandria raised her hand open palmed, gesturing for silence.

Booted feet crunched upon dried bracken to her left and ahead.

She muttered a curse and, rising, turned to fix three men behind her with an icy stare as cold as that from the Tzarina herself.

"Keep quiet," she hissed, "you want this beast to be upon us?" she added, her accent thick.

The mercenaries, unkempt even in their finely tailored attire regarded her with mild contempt and tramped forward through the forest with all the grace and subterfuge of rampaging cattle.

"Sigmar's holy oath!" Reingaer, the captain, swore regarding, the corpse at Kessandria's feet. "It did that?"

He swallowed abruptly, a sword point at his neck.

Kessandria stared at him down the steel edge as she might some filth on her boot.

There was a flash of silver and two blades were quickly at her throat, Reingaer's comrades, a surly, one-eyed swordsman, and an unshaven bruiser, looking at her with malicious intent.

"He is close," she breathed, chest rising and falling rapidly as the cold steel bit at her skin. She lowered her sword.

There was a disturbance ahead as Reingaer's men continue to plough, heedless of Kessandria's warnings.

"Listen to me," he told her with day old alcohol breath, "you were hired to track that thing for us. If we're close then you've done your job and you'll be paid." He leaned in closer, making no disguise as he breathed in her scent, "The bounty for that creature is mine, understand?"

Slowly Kessandria nodded, all the time aware of Reingaer's men ruining her stealth.

His men lowered their blades as she sheathed hers.

"Know this," she told him, "I have never seen von like zis. Bears, zey kill for food, or if cornered, not in malice, or for pleasure."

For a moment, she thought she'd got through. A cry interrupted the tension.

"Here, this way, there are tracks!"

Kessandria turned to see a gleeful warrior bail his comrades. He was ahead of her and as she turned, there was a look of bloodlust in his eyes. That look turned to horror as a massive black shape seemed to appear out of the shadows before him.

He grasped the hilt of his sword, but did not unsheathe it, claws like knives cutting his flesh like paper; his face, neck and torso a red ruin.

Another man close by, cried out and fled in terror. The bellish bear pounded after him, crushing branch and foliage in its path and brought him down in a moment, tearing at his back as it wrenched off a limb.

A third warrior mustered his courage and ran forward. There was a loud clang of metal and he screamed, pinned in place by a rusty bear trap, left long ago to ensnare the fiend. As he struggled at the iron manacle slowing severing his ankle, the bear lumbered over to him and with a mighty swipe of a paw the size of a warhammer, took off his head. Arterial spray fountained up into the forest canopy and two men nearby abandoned their weapons and fled.

Reingaer was paralysed with fear as the monstrous apparition came towards them.

Kessandria went down to one knee; nocked an arrow into her bow and let fly. It was a good shot, the arrowhead lodged in the bear's thigh. It roared in pain and redoubled its efforts to reach them.

The roar jolted Reingaer to his senses, and raising his sword, cried, "Charge!"

Two mercenaries with long spears ran in, thrusting at the beast as it clawed the air around them. It lodged its massive jaw around a spear haft and dragged its bearer close, heaving madly as he tried to pull back. The bear smashed him to pulp with its fists. The second spearman pierced its side and the bear whirled around, charging him into a tree, breaking his neck and spine.

There was only Reingaer and his two cronies left.

They ran in, even as Kessandria let fly another arrow which thudded into the bear.

She watched as the one-eyed mercenary rammed his blade, two-handed, into the beast's chest. Something glowed there, dully, then flared as the creature roared again, tearing three bloody gasbes down the warrior's chest and face. He fell to the ground and lay still. Even Kruger, a hefty giant of a man, was dwarfed by the bear. He backed down at it with his sword desperately. It now bled from a dozen wounds, but did not fall. Instead it rammed a heavy paw onto Kruger's chest, pushing him down hard into the ground, his breaking ribs an audible 'crack' above the screaming.

Reingaer was the last and, at the final moment, his nerve abandoned him and he cowered before the monster as it loomed above him, all but eclipsed by its shadow. He whimpered like a babe, sword hanging limply at his side. The bear took hold of him and crushed him to its body. The strangled cries lasted only a moment.

It threw Reingaer's tangled corpse down and looked at Kessandria.

She saw rage in its eyes and bated.

Kessandria nocked another arrow and aimed carefully. She would only get one chance.

The beast roared its fury at her and charged.

It was only a few feet away when Kessandria released the arrow and dove headlong to the side, the bear's mighty bulk taking it past her and into a hefty tree trunk which smashed apart on impact.

Calm descended and silence returned.

Only Kessandria's pounding heart seemed to make any sound.

Dazed and cut, she rose cautiously from the leaf clutter.

The bear lay still.

She moved over to it. It had twisted in the impact and was on its back. It was dead. She searched the fur of its chest with her sword.

There. She thrust deep and yanked out a glowing shard that had been embedded in the creature's skin.

Tentatively she bent down, picking it up and held it before her.

"Wyrystone," she gasped.

"My thanks to you captain Reingaer," she told the corpse, "I couldn't have done it, without you."

She had one last look at the shard and placed it carefully in a pouch and headed north, towards the settlement where grateful villagers awaited, and smiled.

"It seems I shall collect more than just the bounty."

Kislev Rangers In Nordheim

Kislev is a wild and untamed land; a place of endless horizons, rocky steppes and icy tundra, its plains stretch as far as the eye can see. It is here that the rangers are in their element. Capable of great endurance, travelling on foot for days at a time, they negotiate this hostile land, patrolling its borders, ever watchful for dark forces.

Kislev lies deep in the heart of the icy north and many of its towns and cities are not far from the dreaded Chaos Wastes. Many times have rangers been the first to encounter such abominations as they wander mindlessly across the lands, savagely attacking any they find.

Kislev Rangers have much experience fighting such creatures and are adept at felling large monsters from distance with their preferred weapon – the bow. With hawk-like vision and blade keen instincts, many foul beasts have been slain by a ranger's arrow, the sleeping civilians unaware of the danger at their very doorstep. They are also good swordsmen, like most Kislevites, taught to fight and ride at a young age. It is the way of the ranger to travel light, and they seldom wear much armour or carry weighty packs or provisions. They must be at one with their environment and live off what the land provides. A bow, sword and a cloak to ward off the worst of the weather is oft all a ranger carries on their travels.

Although they are capable warriors, the true strength of a ranger lies in the ability to track. Having travelled the length and breadth of Kislev and beyond, these rangers are excellent scouts and guides, and many warbands and generals hire them for just this purpose. Many times, has it been, when a ranger's warning has averted an ambush or found a clear route through perilous conditions.

Such skill is in great demand, and many rangers have travelled further afield than their native lands, some journeying down into the Empire in search of fortune and glory there. In these dark times of three Emperors, there is much civil unrest within the Empire as brother turns against brother. Deadly plots and ambushes are rife. With a ranger to guide you, ambushes can be avoided, and safe paths forged. Such a guide can ask a high price indeed. Some rangers have also been known to tout their skills to Lords and Barons for hunting down the wolves and Beastmen that plague the many forests, succeeding alone, where scores of armed men failed.

As Mordheim, the City of the Damned draws sell-swords and fortune-hunters from across the Old World it is no surprise to find Kislevite Rangers there too. Adept at exploring through the ruins, finding forgotten loot or lending their deadly aim to a captain's ambition, warbands frequently hire these wild warriors.

Perhaps most peculiar of all, is that many of the rangers are women. Most of the men folk of the northern lands are committed to its protection from the ravaging armies of the Kurgan marauder hordes and the other servants of Chaos. It is the women then, often those shunned by their families or banished for some misdeed, that range out from their homes, perhaps hoping to redeem themselves or even make their own fortunes in the perilous lands beyond.

Whether man or woman though, all rangers are possessed of the same demeanour. Living alone for such long periods, with self-sufficiency as their creed, rangers are reclusive and saturnine. At heart they are loners, particularly so with Kislevites, whose strong culture makes them feel alien despite their wanderlust.

Profile	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
	4	3	4	3	3	1	4	1	7

May be Hired: Mercenaries, Witch Hunters and Dwarfs may hire Kislev Rangers.

Rating: A Kislev Ranger increases the warband's rating by +15 points plus 1 point for each Experience Point she has.

Equipment: Bow, sword and Hunter's cloak.

Skills: A Kislev Ranger may choose from the Shooting and Speed skills whenever she gains a new skill. In addition there are several skills unique to Kislev Rangers as detailed below, which she can choose instead of normal skills. Note that these skills can only be acquired through experience. They are not possessed by a new recruit.

SPECIAL RULES

Heart strike. Kislev Rangers often battle against large monsters that roam their native borders. They have grown particular adept at felling such beasts with a single, deadly arrow strike. When shooting at a large monster (this includes large animals such as bears too), if the Kislev Ranger rolls a 6 to hit, followed by a wound roll of 5+ the beast is shot in some vital spot and killed instantly, regardless of wounds, with no save whatsoever.

Hunter's cloak. This cloak is fashioned by Kislevites and is only worn by their rangers. A hidden ranger will not reveal her position by shooting. The target model can take an Initiative test in order to try and spot the firing ranger. If the test is successful, the ranger is no longer hidden.

Seeker. When rolling on the Exploration chart, the Kislev Ranger allows you to modify one dice by +1/-1.

Loner. As they are notoriously reclusive, Kislev Rangers never have to take All Alone tests.

KISLEV SKILLS

Animal Call: If hidden, the Kislev Ranger may use animal calls to confuse and confound his enemies. Any model within 18" can be affected and, if not able to charge that turn, must take a Leadership test before moving. If they fail the Kislev Ranger may move the model in any direction she wishes.

Herb Lore: Out in the wilds, the ranger has learned basic herb lore to cure simple injuries. Any model in base-to-base contact with the ranger may be healed at the start of the Recovery phase. On a roll of 4+ the model has 1 wound restored. The ranger may not move in the same turn as she uses this skill, but may use it to heal herself.

Hired Sword – Warrior Priest of Sigmar

In the centre of Sigmarhaven is a wooden Temple of Sigmar and this attracts many fledgling warrior priests. To test their mettle against the horrors of the Cursed City, the priesthood hire out their acolytes and make careful observance of their faith, resilience and fervour.

Hire Fee: 40 gc to hire, 20 gcs upkeep.

May be Hired: Any warband may hire a Warrior Priest of Sigmar except Witch Hunters (they already have the warband choice!), Middenheim mercenaries, Possessed, Orcs & Goblins, Skaven and any other suitably 'evil' warbands.

Rating: A Warrior Priest of Sigmar increases the warband rating by +16 points plus 1 point for each Experience point he has.

State of the Empire's Soul

Being a treatise upon the diverse afflictions tormenting the spirit of the common folk of the Empire in these dark times of tumult and dismay.

Eminence,

Since the dire catastrophe that befell Mordheim, there has been a great rise in piety amongst the population of the Empire, in all walks of life from the most humble to the most high. Alarmingly, there has also been a manifold rise in the heresy of witchery, in all its black forms. As instructed, I have sent my emissaries far and wide across the land so that you might know the true and accurate detail of these assertions. These humble words are the result of their questionings of many hundreds of witnesses. Some of these morsels of information were given freely, others under close interrogation by experienced witch hunters. All has been checked as much as possible. However, you will appreciate that the lost souls who traffic with daemons are not the most reliable of witnesses. I have done my utmost to sift their lies from the truth.

The great comet which struck the cursed city of Mordheim is oftentimes seen as a punishment for some misdeed of the peoples of that city, and a sobering punishment it has been. Some have suggested that those who perished in that fireball were perhaps the lucky ones as their suffering was momentary, though this observer would doubt that. Surely they will writhe in torment everlasting if it was indeed their faithlessness which precipitated the calamity.

It is instead my assertion that the comet was a sign for the peoples of the Empire as a whole to leave off their faithless and worldly behaviours and return to the One True Way of our Lord and Master Sigmar. It is a test of our faith and I regret to say that though many of our fellows show the utmost conviction and strength of spirit, there are many others who have taken the easy path of heresy.

Those that have turned from the faith are scattered all over the Empire from the wildest forest to the heart of our cities. Some are humble and uneducated labourers, but it is a taint which has also stained those who should know better. Indeed, some of the most eloquent and well argued of the heretics come from the universities or the clergy, much as it pains me to admit it.

Pieter of Nuln is an example of this type of learned heretic. When he first appeared he was thought to be another of the near-fanatic zealots who roam the roads, preaching of impending doom and the end of all things. Indeed, he did preach thus, but instead of explaining the true remedy of prayer, pilgrimage and support of the holy church as intercessionary with Lord Sigmar, may his name be praised, he preached increasing blasphemy.

Pieter was an educated man, of lower nobility. He attended the seminary and was an excellent theological scholar. His tutors speak highly of his conviction and his piety. It seems that he was almost at Mordheim when the comet struck, on his way to visit relations in that city. They were all slain. This appears to have turned his mind.

His first preachings were supported by the local churchmen as they seemed to encourage piety, and that cannot be a bad thing. However, as time went on it grew increasingly clear that he was peddling a false and unholy brand of heresy. Of late he has even proclaimed that the church itself is a corrupting influence on the faith rather than the central bastion of its defence and encouragement. Instead he claims that the only faith is to be found by a cleansing of the self inside and out. This would be no more than a repetition of the Grathbar heresy were it not for the fact that he encouraged all who would listen to help others cleanse themselves whether they wanted to or not. His followers set about burning churches, breaking up the shops of rich merchants and craftspeople, and denouncing any who stood in their way as irreligious blasphemers. A ragged following grew around him, as it was naturally the poorest that found most to attract them in this faith of denial. Spite and revenge drove them to attack their betters under the banner of their new, twisted faith, and all the while proclaiming themselves the most holy of Sigmar's children.

This following soon grew to the size of a small army, and with size it became bolder, marching across the Howling Hills from the Midden Moors where it had been assembling. Pieter led his deluded followers up the Talabec towards Talabheim in a mass, chanting and singing. By all accounts it was a striking sight.

The first of the armies that was sent against them was small, and after an impassioned speech from Pieter himself it was swallowed up by the mass, joining the heretics it had been sent to destroy. In time of peace Talabheim would have been doomed as there would not have been the men to hire, but in these times of strife there are mercenaries on every street corner, and those with deep purses can hire an army in short time. This is exactly what the frightened burghers of that city did, opening their coffers to buy a large army of veteran mercenaries led by the most irreligious and wordly of generals they could find: Otto Halfhand. I will not delve into the history of this unsavoury character here, save to offer the view that he is not a man that one would normally have dealings with, but desperate times call for desperate measures. Having lost one force to the silver tongued charlatan they were loathe to lose another. If anyone could resist the call to his better nature or his immortal soul it was said to be Otto.

True to his nature, Otto led his army to a small ridge that blocked the path of the advancing heretics, and waited. As before, they offered parley, but this time the heretic emissaries were sent back in several sacks. Believing they might have some daemonic ability to turn men's minds with their words, Otto wasn't taking any chances.

Pieter hesitated, but it was too late for him to back out. The battle was a bloody one when it came, all but a handful of the heretics being slaughtered by the mercenaries. The few that were captured were questioned repeatedly and then put to the pyre. It was too dangerous for them to be suffered to live. Pieter himself was slain on the field of battle.

What this episode teaches us is that even those that are merely unbalanced and misled, as I believe Pieter was, can almost sack a city. Those that are truly evil may be even more dangerous.

Pieter is dead now, but he was far from the only itinerant preacher. The roads of the Empire are choked with mercenaries, homeless refugees from the fighting and in amongst these are many so-called holy men. This moving congregation is a fertile ground for recruits and there have been many cases of local disturbances on much smaller scale than the Pieterites. Local watchmen and roadwardens from all corners of the Empire have testified to my investigators to the growing unrest stirred up by these rabble-rousers. At present they are contained, for the most part. How long that will continue to be the case is uncertain.

True witchcraft is also to be found in many parts of the Empire, though it is more insidious and difficult to trace, for obvious reasons. For many years the holy church has largely tolerated the home remedies and curative simples of the local wise woman as they are, in the main, merely harmless traditions. At least, this is the argument of their apologists, a line of debate your Eminence knows I have never followed. However, of late these 'wise women' have been used to disguise and excuse an increasing amount of undoubted witchery, and we can no longer tolerate any such traffic with heresy, real or imagined, large or small. Heresy is heresy, however seemingly innocent, and needs to be stamped out. As this practise is so widespread, I urge your Eminence to consider instructing our clergy to use extra diligence in rooting out this taint at the lowest level, and thus by removing all excuse we can leave the heretic without a place to hide. Once in the open the searing light of pure faith will burn away the corruption.

Of course, there are other witches who are more powerful than this and who practise their black arts openly. These are dangerous foes, and I have lost more than a few of my loyal inquisitors at their hands. Indeed, none who were sent to Sylvania returned, and I fear that this bodes very ill for that province. One can only hope for an innocent explanation or some commonplace mishap, though I am unable to find such solace in my heart.

Nor is this the only haven for such black arts. Reports come to me from all corners of our land. The Unbroken Circle from Altdorf, Black University of Marienburg (ever a haven for dubious foreigners) and the Unseen Hand from Bechafen are but a few of the various and sundry nameless groups of witches, blasphemers and heretics that harbour no love for our Lord Sigmar. The so-called City of the White Wolf has been a nest of heresy for centuries, and their well-practised witcheries are no doubt even more pronounced now. My men have not been able to find reliable sources from those unholy parts, but we can hope that their travails will bring them to their senses and a devout and penitent joining of the True Faith of Sigmar.

The centre of this renewed outbreak of sorcery is, of course, the ruined mass of Mordheim itself. By all reports, the city has been not only largely ruined, but also tainted with poisonous wyrdstone. Quite how this came to happen is uncertain, but it is clear that it is part of the comet's bane. This wyrdstone poisons the water and twists the plants so that crops will not grow true. Living creatures are also twisted and rumours of mutants abound. For those that are already born, it corrupts the mind, and this is the realm of the witch. Those that survived the comet's strike have been corrupted by its leavings; those that were safely removed from its ire have been drawn by the lure of wealth (as the wyrdstone is much prized by many heretics), and so this black canker draws in more souls with each passing day.

Were it possible to contain the city I would suggest it, but the blighted area is too great, and the times we live in too uncertain to tie so many loyal troops down to such a task. Indeed, it is unknown how long even the most devout of fellows can sustain his purity in the face of such a corruption, and so I fear that any army we send may turn against us if it were left there too long.

I believe our salvation lies elsewhere. Just as there has been a rise in heresy, so has there been a rise in the zealot. My first council is to support these men, aiding them in rooting out the evils that lurk in the darkness.

These are driven men with a burning loyalty that heresy and taint cannot extinguish. They are fearless and untiring followers of our Lord Sigmar, and will brook no blasphemy. Moreover, they are, in general, not members of the clergy so we will neither be blamed for their excessive zeal nor required to foot the bill.

Hans-Jurgen Schwartzbeim, self-styled Witch Finder General, is one such man, though there are many others. He scours the forests of Hochland and Ostland, south of the Middle Mountains. Mutants have roamed here for centuries, though they are now more prevalent than ever. Here too are dens and covens of witches, and these are the prey of the Witch Finder. Where he comes from is unknown, but he has gathered a small force of similarly ruthless and dedicated men to him, and he patrols the land, burning any with the taint of either mutation or heretical magic with a passion. I have heard that his family was murdered by half-man, half-beasts from the forest. Some say that his wife was abducted by a warlock for some dire sacrifice. Yet others suggest that he is beset by visions and is guided by the hand of Sigmar Himself. Whatever the reason, he is a most efficient and ruthless foe of the heretic and one we could do well to aid.

My last, but most important, council is prayer. Whatever we are doing now it is not enough. Corruption stalks the streets of the Empire and taints the minds of the impious. It is a snowballing blight that gathers more to itself with each passing day. Let Sigmar be our shield and our hammer to smash this blight. Let us show him that no sacrifice is too great in His Name. Let us empty the coffers to buy scented oils and incense to offer up. Let us hold ceremonies night and day, and scourge our unclean bodies that He may enter our souls.

In Sigmar's name

Priest of Morr

If you are having trouble with unwanted ghouls and ghosts then your warband needs the services of a priest of Morr.

A new freelancer by TODD ESTABROOK.

"Although we offer blessings upon a departing soul, that Morr may allow it passage through the realm of death, the soul is not our concern. The soul belongs to Morr. Our concern is the body. Our rituals insure that the body remains just as it is; that it is properly sealed and sanctified, lest something enter into the cadaver's shell and corrupt it... or worse."

There are many religions in the Old World and many gods worshiped. Morr, the god of Death, is no exception. Most people within the Empire fear a priest of Morr - for most people fear the unknown. Death, no matter how religious the individual, is an unknown fate that none can escape and the priests of Morr remind everyone of their own mortality. A reminder that most would sooner not have. However, despite this prejudice, the priests of Morr are indispensable in the services they render.

Loved ones must be cared for properly when they die and even those who are unloved are still properly taken care of. Everyone acknowledges the importance of funeral rituals. For, more times than anyone cares to remember the dead, the uncared for dead, risen have up to terrorise the living. And, though sword and hammer will curtail them, Undead only a priest of Morr can put them to rest for good.

So, it is no wonder that the Temple of Morr has sent missionaries to the City of the Damned. Accompanied with both mercenary parties or armed guards and nobles, the priests of Morr come. The Judgement of Sigmar has taken many, many lives and, so the stories go, many more are being lost each day. For the priest of Morr this means their presence is urgently needed.

MERCENARY HERO

The priest of Morr is a new Hero that can be used by mercenary warbands and in doing so he replaces one of that warband's heroes. It is unlikely that Witch Hunters and Sisters of Sigmar will have a priest of Morr accompanying them, so neither of these two warbands may take one.

SKILLS AND EXPERIENCE

Priests of Morr start with 8 Experience.

Priests of Morr use Academic and Speed skills.

HERO

Priest	4	2	2	3	3	1	4	1	9

Weapons and Armour: As priests of Morr seldom engage in martial activities, they may only be armed with a Dagger and a Scythe as a weapon. Priests of Morr may never wear armour.

SPECIAL RULES

Loner: Few people care to spend any length of time in the company of a priest of Morr - even when it is their duty to do so. As such, a priest of Morr is used to being alone and probably prefers it that way. Priests of Morr do not suffer from the All Alone rules.

Funerary Rites: Priests of Morr are not wizards by any means, however, they do have numerous Funerary Rites, which they may perform. As such, priests of Morr may choose a Funerary Rite listed below, using the rules for Magic on page 56 of the Mordheim book.

FUNERARY RITES

Priests of Morr use Funerary rites to insure that the dead remain dead, that their body is sanctified and sealed and their soul safely passed into Morr's keeping.

1D6 - Result

1 - Morr's Protection

Difficulty: 6

The Priest of Morr calls out to his god when confronted by an abomination and asks that he be shielded from the corrupted magic of the tainted. Any Magical attacks made by a Necromancer, a Magister or Daemons, which would be considered a direct attack on the priest, will be negated if this rite is successful.

2 - Death Holds No Fear

Difficulty: Auto

Priests of Morr must be steadfast in their resolution and as such must, above all else, have no fear of death. The priest of Morr is now Fearless for the remainder of the game.

3 - Sanctity of the Fallen

Difficulty: 7

'Those who fall shall be sanctified and their soul freed, in the name of Morr, god of death'. The priest of Morr may attempt to perform the Rite of Sanctity on a model (friend or foe) who has been taken Out of Action. The priest of Morr must be within 6" of the model in question. If successful, the model may not be raised up by a Necromancer.

4 - Hand of Morr

Difficulty: 9

'By his the hand of Morr, the Undead shall become as dust and ashes'. The priest of Morr must be in base-to-base contact with an Undead model. Before Hand-to-Hand combat occurs, the priest of Morr may attempt to use the Hand of Morr rite. If successful the foe immediately goes out of action (this affects Zombies, Dire Wolves and Vampires). Ghouls and Possessed affected by this rite will immediately flee their full Move away from the priest of Morr.

5 - Do you know who I am?

Difficulty: 7

'Gaze upon me, abomination, for I am a priest of Morr'. This rite has a range of 6" and must be directed at the closest Undead model first, or if no Undead are within range, at the next closest human servant of the Undead (Dregs, Ghouls, Necromancers), or finally at any model. If successful, that model is immediately Stunned. If the model cannot be Stunned, then it is Knocked Down instead.

6 - I am death!

Difficulty: 8

'I am a priest of Morr, god of death!' It is a well-known fact that the priests of Morr are not martially inclined. Their divine duties involved the dead, not the taking of life. However, there are times when a priest of Morr will be called to engage in combat and who would be more feared than a representative of the god of Death? This spell gives the priest of Morr a 6+ armour save and increases their WS by either +1 or makes it 4, whichever is greater.

NEW WEAPON

Scythe

Range: Close Combat Strength: As user +1

Special Rules: Difficult to use, Two Handed

Scythes are normally implements used in the fields by farmers. It is rare to see them wielded as weapons of warfare. However, the scythe also carries with it an image of death. It is the symbol of the Grim Reaper, the representation of famine and starvation and disease through the lack of harvested food. Priests of Morr, when they need to, may carry a Scythe as a weapon. This is of heavier manufacture, and designed to reap warriors rather than wheat. Because the Scythe is unwieldy, it must be used with two-hands and cannot be used with another weapon, shield or buckler.

Wolf Priest of Ulric

The Wolf Priests of Ulric hail from Middenheim, the city of the White Wolf, built on a plateau that according to legend was created by a mighty blow from Ulric's fist. Ulric, the White Wolf, is the god of winter and a violent god, and his priests see the hammer-like blow of the comet on Mordheim as Ulric's judgment on the decadent Sigmarites.

Wolf Priests may only join a Middenheim

Sisters of Sigmar as heretics and worse due to the intense rivalry between the cults of Ulric and Sigmar.

Weapons and Armour

Wolf Priests may not use any armour, trusting only in Ulric's protection. The only exception is that every Wolf Priest is garbed in a cloak made from the pelt of a white wolf: 6+ save.

The cost of the cloak is included in the cost of the priest.

Wolf Priests prefer the use of blunt weapons to those with edges, and thus may only use hammers, maces, clubs, flails, morning stars, and the two-handed version of any of these. The exception to this is the ubiquitous dagger that most models carry.

Skills

Wolf Priests may chose from the Combat,
Academic, Strength and Speed lists.

Special Rules

Hatred: Wolf Priests see Witch
Hunters (Templars of Sigmar),
Warrior-Priests, Sigmarite Matriarchs and Sisters Superior as agents of an opposing cult, and thus they HATE these models. That hatred does not extend to other models in those warbands, as the Wolf Priests see them simply as misguided followers of an errant cult.

Wolf Companion: Wolf Priests may be accompanied by a huge wolf. (See Wolf Companion entry following Wolf Priest rules.)

Prayers of Ulric

In a similar way to Sigmarite Sisters and Warrior-Priests and their prayers to Sigmar, Wolf Priests call upon their god for assistance in times of battle. Wolf Priests may use a wolf cloak and still chant these prayers. They are prayers, not spells, and thus any special protection against spells does not affect them. Wolf Priests use the rules for magic on page 56 of the rulebook with the following prayers.

D6 result

1 Snow Squall Difficulty 6

Ulric extends his protection to the Wolf Priest in the form of a localised snow squall that engulfs the model. All enemy models in HtH combat with the priest are at -1 to hit due to the swirling snow and winds. The spell lasts for the duration of the HtH combat.

2 Hammerschlag Difficulty 10

The Wolf Priest calls down a hammer blow from Ulric on any model within 6". That model suffers a S4 attack from an enormous ethereal hammer, including the concussion special rule.

3 Bloodlust Difficulty 7

The Wolf Priest is infused with a lust for battle and attacks wildly. All attacks are at S +2, and he scores a critical hit on a 5-6. The Wolf Priest must test, by rolling the prayer's difficulty or greater on 2d6, each turn to see if the prayer remains in effect.

4 Wolf's Hunger Difficulty 7

One member of the warband (priest's choice) is thrown into a Frenzy. (See page 39 of the Mordheim rulebook for details.)

5 Ulric's Howl Difficulty 10

The Wolf Priest's prayer is answered as an ear-shattering inhuman howl roars from his throat. For the duration of the battle, all members of the priest's warband are immune to Fear, Terror or All Alone tests as they feel the presence of their god. Additionally, all Rout tests are at +1.

There are those practitioners of magic that dwell permanently within the depraved ruins of Mordheim. They are unable to find a place in society and live as hermits, conjuring their magicks in utter solitude. These creatures are witches and are often seen in the broken down houses and ruined shacks that litter the City of the Damned, stooped over bubbling cauldrons, sheltering from the rain. They are ancient and individual practitioners of magic, using many old spells, and methods that are older still. Weapons/Armour: Staff.

SPECIAL RULES

Wizard: The Witch has the ability to use magic and casts spells like any other wizard. She has two spells generated at random from the Charms ~ Hexes list. See below for details.

Recluse: Witches are very reclusive individuals and therefore difficult to employ. Even when they are found they may be reluctant to aid the warband no matter how much gold they offer. When attempting to hire a Witch the warband leader must roll a D6. If he or she can score a 4+ the Witch can be hired, otherwise the Witch shuns them and they will have to try again after their next battle.
